REPORT OF THE SCHOOL BOARD.

In the management of our schools it is well not to lose sight of the objects for which they are maintained. First, the making of good citizens, and secondly, the putting with reach of all, both the rich and the poor, the personal advantage of a common school education. Under the old district system the amount of property within the boundary lines of a district largely determined the amount of schooling in that district. Hence scholars in different parts of the town had very unequal privileges. The town system is much more just; the intent being to give, as nearly as can be, equal advantages to all.

The grades of schools that benefit all should receive our first care. A large number never reach the highest grade. We want our schools so conducted that their influence shall ever be toward the formation of good character. Teachers whose lives are worthy examples, who influence their pupils to act from worthy motives rather than from fear of punishment, who improve occasions to inculcate the several virtues that go to make a good character, can do much in this direction.

As an aid in preserving order a system of marks for demerits has been in use in some of the schools the past year with, we think, good effect. A few of those having the highest number of marks have been reported to the School Board. We have listened to the explanations of teachers and to what the scholars could say in their own defence. In no case could any blame attach to the teacher. Their requirements were reasonable, their treatment was kind and considerate. In all the cases reported, a reformation was effected without a resort to very severe measures. No scholar has a right, nor is he to be allowed to continue in a course of conduct injurious to the school.

With general good order, and as a result of the earnest labors of our teachers, we think a good degree of progress has been made. The last term was in some cases interrupted by the sickness of teachers, and progress was very much retarded in some of the schools by the irregular attendance of the scholars. We presume that sickness will account for most of it; but we fear in too many cases parents are not alive to the importance of having their children every day in school.

That our schools have improved is evidenced by the fact that candidates for the High School lately examined for admission were considerably in advance of those of former years.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

In consequence of the action taken at the last school meeting the course of study in the High school was changed to a four years course. Classes in Greek, French and English literature were added, and another assistant employed. In the studies that were added, two recited in Greek, six in French and five in Literature. Of course at the commencement of another year a much larger number will have the benefit of the additional year of study; for an entire class will enter upon the studies of the fourth year; and such as do not choose to take Greek or French will be drilled in a business course or reviews of the most important branches.

The second assistant was employed four hours in a day.

If the same course is continued there will be an increased amount of work another year.

The question of seating the scholars is likely to come up when another class enters, as no class is to graduate this year, and the full seating capacity of the room has already been taken up at times. This consideration may have an influence to raise the standard of admission.

The school at the North village being interrupted by the failing health of the teacher, the scholars were afterward conveyed to the village schools. This we think proved quite satisfactory, and it was done at about half of the expense of maintaining a school.

Also after the burning of the Wilson school house some of the scholars were brought to the village. Scholars from the vicinity of the Electric Light plant were conveyed to West Peterboro'.

The Richardson school house was newly shingled to preserve it from decay, as it was thought there may be a condition of things when it will be wanted for a school. The school house at the south village has been painted. Some more concreting has been done around the village school house; it is thought that the outside of the house should be painted the coming season.

The school house in the East district is in pretty poor condition. If a school is to be maintained there something should be done.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARY COMMITTEE

SUBMITTED FEBRUARY 15, 1894.

Since the Library was moved into its new quarters, it has become, through the coöperation of the Librarian and teachers, a valuable adjunct of the Public School. Classes in History and Literature find it especially profitable, and by its aid are enabled to carry their work far beyond the scope of the text book.

The committee call particular attention to the large patronage of the Reading Room. They notice with surprise and gratification the number of younger boys who frequent it. The value of the habits thus being formed may not be so manifest now, but in years to come, will prove a powerful factor in moulding the sentiment of this community.

It is the aim of the committee to make the Reading Room the literary center of the town, and every citizen is urged to feel a personal interest in its prosperity and to use freely every advantage it offers.

REPORT OF BOARD OF HEALTH.

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN:—

Very little complaint, for the past year, has been made to the Board of Health of the existence of nuisances. We find that householders and families exercise much care in keeping their vaults, cesspools and sink drains in good sanitary conditions.

By our present state laws every physician in the state is required to report to the local Board of Health every case of small pox, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, and measles that come under their observations. Only one case of the above infectious diseases—measles—was reported to the board.

Aside from La Grippe which has prevailed to some extent the past winter, and which sanitary laws have not as yet been able to prevent or control, the health of the community has been good.
